

FOOTHILL BUDGET UPDATE/NEWS

July 28, 2009

Update The Governor signed legislation today revising the 2009-2010 State budget, including deep cuts to community colleges. As reported by Scott Lay, CEO of the Community College League of California, the cuts will reduce community college spending by $680 million from the amount approved in February when the 09-10 budget was passed. The Foothill-De Anza Community College District is in the process of analyzing the new budget, and information on the impact to the district will be made available in the coming weeks. July 21, 2009 Update

Governor Schwarzenegger and state leaders announced a tentative budget deal yesterday they expect to be voted on by the legislature on Thursday. The plan addresses the state's 26.3 billion deficit by making large cuts to education, health and other state programs. Community college leaders will be issuing an analysis of the budget deal shortly, and Foothill-De Anza leadership is working to define the impact this budget will have on district resources. More information will be forthcoming as the budget plan moves toward a vote in the legislature.
